

ENSA's Board of Directors and the company's Chief Executive Officer, Javier Pariente, have decided by mutual agreement to terminate the labor relation starting March 15, 2015. ENSA would like to thank attorney Pariente for his commitment and outstanding work along his 15 years of service with the company. ENSA's supreme directorial body will start this week, with the advice and assistance of an international headhunting firm, the selection process of a new Chief Executive Officer.
