For the second time EPM wins silver award in "The Sustainability Yearbook 2016"

- EPM was honored for the second time with a silver award in the Multi and Water Utilities industry
- The award was given based on the results obtained by the company in the Dow Jones Sustainability Indexes assessment 2015
- 464 leading companies on sustainability management worldwide were included in the 2016 Sustainability Yearbook

EPM stands out once again due to its remarkable performance which lead the company to be included by RobecoSAM in "The Sustainability Yearbook 2016". This publication lists the companies with the best results in the Dow Jones Sustainability Indexes enhancing environmental, social and governance performance.

In the 2015 assessment, EPM got a score of 78 points out of 100 in the Multi and Water Utilities industry, achieving a silver award and reflecting a high performance in criteria such as access to water, biodiversity, scorecards / measurement systems, price risk management, supply chain management, market opportunities, tax strategy and power generation.

EPM General Manager and Group Leader, Jorge Londoño de la Cuesta said that "for EPM is a very important achievement to have being recognized with a silver award for the second time, and for being among the 464 organizations worldwide that take part this time of the Sustainability Yearbook" The executive added that "this result is important but we must focus even more on essential social and environmental aspects such as the universal access to the services we offer, the watershed and supply basins protection, the strengthening of our suppliers and contractors and other specific issues that address the sustainability management and are directly related to our sphere of influence."

The recognition

The award was granted to EPM by RobecoSAM, a firm specializing in sustainable investment, which measures corporate sustainability and publishes the yearbook. This time 2,126 companies from 32 countries in 59 industries were evaluated. Of these, only 464 are part of the yearbook 2016. The silver award granted means that EPM is located within 5% of the best performing companies in the Multi and Water Utilities industry.
